

Claim 1 – I claim the invention of a home cooling cycle that utilizes a concrete mass and blower located under the home and separate from the home.

Claim 2 – I claim the invention of a concrete heat exchanger that is used for heat absorption and regeneration of the above concrete mass.

(10) Abstract of the Disclosure

To my knowledge, the location of this concrete mass under a home and separate from the home in a cooling cycle is new technology. Likewise, use of the concrete heat exchanger in absorption and regeneration is new technology.

(11) Sequence Listing

None